In a major contribution to the on-going debate on imperialism, Patrick Bond argues that an explanation of imperialist political-economy and geopolitics must incorporate subimperialisms. John Smith's old-fashioned binary of North/South prevents him from fully engaging with David Harvey's overall concern about uneven geographical development.

Energy-maneuverability theory is a model of aircraft performance. It was developed by Col. John Boyd, a fighter pilot, and Thomas P. Christie a mathematician with the Air Force, and is useful in describing an aircraft's performance as the total of kinetic and potential energies or aircraft specific energy.
